"Heartland Farms, Inc., a member of the Portage County Business Council since 1989, has been experiencing substantial growth both in employment and infrastructure. Heartland Farms is a 5th generation family owned and operated potato and vegetable farm with its main location in Hancock, WI. In the past year, they have added 15 full-time employees to their growing team!

Heartland Farms' philosophy of putting people and communities first and keeping up with the latest technologies has helped stimulate growth and has put them in a great position for future success. With incorporating the latest technologies and having a great team to support these technologies, Heartland focuses on sustainability not only of their land and resources, but of the thriving communities they are a part of.

Heartland Farms recently celebrated the Grand Opening of their new Farm Operations, Technology & Training Center. This facility's goal is to increase collaboration and training within the company and with the community. Later this year, their new grading and shipping facility will also be operational. This 75,000 square foot facility incorporates a state of the art design with the latest in industrial technologies. When this project is complete, Heartland Farms will have the ability to ship a load of potatoes in five minutes.

Being a member of the Portage County Business Council provides a great opportunity to be actively engaged in local communities and for networking with other local businesses. Supporting local businesses and communities is a main focus for Heartland Farms and groups like the Portage County Business Council foster this in an exceptional way."
